

EDDIE EVERGREEN A GIANT GARDEN WALKABOUT

Introductory Offer 2012

Eddie Evergreen stands 8 foot tall in his brightly colored gardening gear, and is the life and soul of every garden party. If you don't have a garden – don't worry! Eddie's brought his own garden with him, in his wonderful wheelbarrow. Eddie Evergreen's wheelbarrow isn't tied to a fixed stage and there's a magical mobile garden in it, perfect for any audience, anywhere.

The kids (and adults) are amazed. There are all sorts of plants and flowers to discover, like the common or garden juggling-nut or a shy balance-me-not flower. Each child gets to plant seeds in a little flower pot, to make a special mini-garden to take home.

When the weather gets really hot, Eddie Evergreen is there to cool things down. He waters all the big and little plants and persons in his care, making sure that none of his seedlings dry out, or wither and drop.

Eddie is not just an expert gardener, he knows all about animals, too. He has a hedgehog living in his wheelbarrow and there's a dragonfly somewhere. There's just a chance you might see it land on his green gardening hat, while he goes about his work in his giant yellow seven-league wellington boots.

600.00 EUR (plus 7% VAT) per day, for three 40 minute walkabout performances.

No travel costs will be charged for any event up to 200 km from Kassel.
